

Lauren Walcutt – Troy

How do I prevent someone from making a phone call to the police that isn't true about my mental health? Why are police officers able to use any type of mental health law without evidence that someone actually has an issue? Are they able to? Are there limits to this?